“How do you stay in shape? And what do you wear while doing it?”

CRYSTAL RENN

“I hit Equinox for martial-arts classes in Y-3’s hooded sweatshirts. And I never go anywhere without my Balenciaga Le Dix handbag—even the gym!”

Who: Model

What: Models a sleek roster of urban-athlete-inspired activewear for “Be a Sport,” page 334

Where: On location at Smashbox studio, L.A.

ABIGAIL WALCH

“If I’m feeling social, bike rides with a friend; high-energy, boxing; frazzled, yoga. And I’m loving my Rykå Mary Jane sneakers”

Who: Vogue Senior Editor

What: Mastermind behind April’s superbly shaped features lineup; edits “Little Miss Big Time,” page 358, and “The Illusionist,” page 366

Where: Columbus Circle subway, NYC

ELISABETH FRANCK-DUMAS

“Anything in the mountains. I pile on sweaters and Polarfleece jackets. And I steal my husband’s Turnbull & Asser cashmere socks!”

Who: Writer

What: Checks in with champion runner Paula Radcliffe to see how she stays on track while balancing motherhood and beckoning marathons for “Born to Run,” page 348

Where: Pollux Mountain in Zermatt, Switzerland

HILARY RHODA

“Besides walking those long New York City blocks, I do Pilates because it helps me feel longer and leaner, which is great considering my job! I love the Stella McCartney collection for Adidas”

Who: Model

What: Showcases spring’s sporty-chic looks for “Be a Sport,” page 334

Where: On location at Smashbox studios, L.A.

GABY WOOD

“I walk everywhere, typically in Pumas but occasionally in a pair of bright-red suede Stephane Kélian wedges”

Who: Writer

What: Divulges Alvin Ailey dancer Dwana Smallwood’s secrets about maintaining, draping, and embracing her superlative shape for “The Illusionist,” page 366
